Who's Who in Lemon Grove

"About the most exciting thing that has happened to me recently was getting my driver's license for the first time."

To Mildred Heusbch, president of the Lemon Grove Business Women's League who, with her husband Al, operates the Grove Quality Cleaners, that is a sincere and honest statement.

Running a business today becomes increasingly monotonous what with so many detailed reports required for various levels of county, state and federal government that almost anything that takes you away from that routine is exciting, she opines.

Earlier this year she was named head of the Business Woman's League. This progressive group of ladies takes the hard-thinking business point of view on many of the community's projects.

The League, indulges in almost no social activity outside their regular meetings and an annual installation party and an annual dinner dance. Interested in matters having business implications this group of some 35 women, headed by Mrs. Heusbch sparked the clean-up campaign and saw to it that the lemon in the plaza was repainted after it was smeared with paint by vandals. They were the moving force behind the weed cutting along the railway right-of-way in the town's center. At their meetings they try to solve problems that face local businesses day by day. They become the feminine counterpart of the chamber of commerce by telling the Lemon Grove story to all whom they come in contact with.

Business takes up Mrs. Heusbch's weeks, all 52 of them each year. "We've had no vacation since we came here four years ago" she says. She doesn't think that unusual because there are so many other business people in Lemon Grove, striving for success for themselves and the community, who have yet to take a vacation since they started in business.

Rodeo - Fiesta To Attract More Than 15,000

Plans to handle between 15,000 to 20,000 persons in connection with the third annual Lemon Grove Rodeo have been completed, it was announced yesterday by Henry Cappel, general chairman. It is being sponsored by St Ioinn of the Cross church. While this is the third rodeo, it is the twelfth year in a row for some type of horse show by the sponsors.

A parade, featuring three bands will herald the affair when it proceeds east along Broadway to the Rodeo Grounds at Sweetwater and Imperial. The parade starts at 11:00 a. m. The rodeo starts at 1:30 p. m.

More than a hundred floats and riders will participate in the parade. Business firms in the Lemon Grove area will either have floats or sponsor them. A score of the Grove's prettiest young ladies are vying for title of Queen.

Rodeo-Fiesta queen, and two attendants, are being chosen today (Thursday) at a Youth Dance at the Mission Rancho Auditorium. The Queen will be crowned at the close of the parade today. A wardrobe, wristwatch and a trip to a Hollywood movie are among the prizes she will receive.

St Augustine's High School band, the Marine band and Ozzie's band will take part in the parade. Parade trophies will be awarded in many classes with prizes for men, women, boys and girls. Some of the classes are: best in show; best palomino; best western; best horse drawn vehicle; best group; best uniformed group; pair western and best silver mounted.

The RCA professional cowboy [illegible] De Haven, John Smith, and Patsy [illegible] Asquith, all the western stars will participate in the rodeo. A first time feature will be a novice jack pot cattle cutting event which promises a lot of action.

Alex Barron, rodeo comedian and Wes Curtis and his famous mule "Pork Chops" will entertain between events.

Beef, barbecued for 24 hours, will make up the main course of dinner which will be served from 11 until 6.

Booths to sell sandwiches, soft drinks, candy and the like have been installed and are ready for full operation.

School To Ask Bids On Intermediate School Improvement

Lemon Grove Board of Trustees approved the publishing of bids for a part of the Lemon Grove Intermediate School this week. This would include a multi-purpose room with cafeteria, auditorium, and music room, shower and locker rooms, and rough grading of athletic grounds bordering on Kempf Street. Bids will be published in approximately two weeks, following approval of the Division of School House Planning.

A recent move to complete the entire project at this time was rejected by the Allocation Board in Sacramento, but they recommended that the district complete necessary building with present funds. The present cafeteria would be condemned upon inspection, and then the community here would be entirely without such a building if future legislation curbed construction.

If the governor calls a special session to put school building funds on the November ballot, there is a possibility that such funds would be designated only for classrooms. At that time the district could then complete the extra classrooms included in the master plan. Also, federal funds possibly will aid in the construction of classrooms here in this district. These funds, when voted by Congress, willl be earmarked for classrooms.

During the meeting the trustees also authorized the publishing of bids for the sale and removal of the house on the Kempf street property recently acquired from Theodore Mangano.

Plans for a summer recreation program are nearly completed. The committee, headed by Mrs. David Cohen of Monterey Heights with assistance from Louis Polizzi, has outlined a program to be conducted at Lemon Grove and Monterey Heigh's Schools. Students from San Miguel and Vista La Mesa are urged to attend. Funds for the program, raised by the P. T. A.'s, have been supplemented by many community organizations. Latest contribution was announced Monday evening by Channing Mason, who stated that the Kiwanis had voted $50 toward the summer project. Cedric Summerjohn will be director of the recreation program in the Lemon Grove District.

The following schedule for the 1952-53 school term was adopted by the trustees:

Pre-school Workshop	Week of Sept. 8
School Opens	Sept. 15
Armistice Holiday	Nov. 11
Thanksgiving Holiday	Nov. 27, 28
Christmas Holiday	Dec. 22 to Jan. 2
Lincoln's Birthday	Feb. 12
Washington's Birthday	Feb. 22
Spring Vacation	March 30 to April 3
Last day of classes	June 17

S. K. Selleder, director of education, reported to the board that the recruitment of new teachers for vacancies in the district is progressing well. Approximately half of the instructors needed have signed contracts for next year. Teachers coming from the Los Angeles district were very favorably impressed with the attractive schools, the community and the newly-adjusted salary schedule here.

DR. WHITE HONORED AT SURPRISE MEETING

A surprise program honoring Dr. Jim White, secretary of the Grove Kiwanis was given by that organization Wednesday.

It marked the sinking of the minesweeper he skippered in the La Havre France area 8 years ago that day.

His ship, the Partridge, was torpedoed and sunk in 30 seconds. Safety measures which Lt. Commander White had taken kept the death toll low. He received the Silver Star and Purple Heart for his part in this action. He also was decorated by France.

Lester J. Wadsworth, assistant director of defense and disaster for San Diego County gave the Kiwanis a picture of what would happen should a bomb be dropped on San Diego.

"Civil defense," he said, "was going to include everyone."

The annual citizenship cup award was made to Judy Gravell of the 8-3 class and Andy Watt of 8-3. They were selected by faculty members for their splendid cooperation, excellent work habits, and a fine sense of dependability and responsibility. Both students have held offices in class room and student council elections, have worked with various student groups, and have served as office monitors. Andy did an excellent job as an operator of audio-visual aid equipment and Judy was head of the pom pom corps all year.

Officers Named To Citizens' School Advisory Committee

The first organization meeting of the Lemon Grove School District Citizens' Advisory Committee was held at Golden Avenue School last Thursday. Twenty-two people representing many religious, civic, and fraternal groups in the community attended and listened to Byron L. Netzley school superintendent explain the purpose of the proposed organization.

He said that the task of the committee would be threefold: (1) to interpret the wishes of the community to the school board; (2) to interpret the problems to the community; and (3) to advise the school board of the findings or recommendations of the Citizens' Advisory Committee.

The group tackled the problem of organizing the committee with great enthusiasm. John Dail was elected temporary chairman with Mrs. Channing Mason, secretary. Mr. Dail then appointed F. G. White, Mrs. Lyle Janes, Dan Apra, Mrs. H. T. Espe, to the nominating committee for permanent officers, along with Dail.

The following people were appointed to attend the Lemon Grove and Grossmont unification meetings: Earl M. Kinyon, Robert Brown, and John Dail. The latter was also selected to attend all local school board meetings.

The Citizens' group will meet again on July 15, at 8:00 p. m., in the Golden Avenue School kindergarten, following the unification meeting the previous week.

Our wet winter is dying hard, as evidenced by the fine mist which fell a large part of the day on Thursday and Friday. Although this brought us only a trace of rain on the first day and .01 inch the second, it prevented the evaporation normal to this time of year and so that extent helped out our water supply. It also resulted in a reversal of the usual state of affairs, giving us a higher humidity Thursday evening than we had that same morning. Northerly breezes, for the following three days, broke up the usual early evening overcast and gave us the beautiful moonlight nights of Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the good old "June Moon" so dear to the hearts of the lyricists of Tin Pan Alley.

There's no editor who hasn't picked up his paper only to find a change in tense in a heading or a plural made singular or vice versa.

These errors can be charged to many things, but usually the printer gets the blame. Interuptions, poor copy, incomplete proof reading and plain ignorance contribute to these derelictions, but few are deliberate.

These tend to give the writer a little shock but the pressure of the next issue forces these worries into limbo, with others taking their place.

The father of all newspapermen Horace Greeley, had a decided opinion on some words. In particular he disagreed with the use of the word "news". That is a key word in any newspaper and Greely insisted that the "s" ending made it plural in spite of Webster defining the word as plural in form but singular in use. With a mailed fist he enforced his views on his staff. The word, ending in "s" made it plural he maintained.

Greeley once telegraphed a reporter, from whom he had not heard after 24 hours on an assignment, "WHAT ARE YOU DOING STOP ARE THERE ANY NEWS"

Wired back the reporter, "NOT A NEW."

The ideal accompaniment for spring meals, citrus salads are pretty as pictures and in tune with the weather. Chockful of vitamin C, and peak flavor right now, Florida grapefruit and orange sections are delicious tossed with lettuce, chicory, watercress, or whatever your favorite green may be and served with a tart French dressing. Save hollowed-out grapefruit shells to make the attractive flower bowls. Enjoy citrus salads like this, so easy and economical, often now while the fresh fruit is still available.

IT IS DIFFICULT to understand the way several million genuinely free men who have lived in a free country for generations allow a few politicians and labor leaders to plunge them into [illegible] jeopardy.

Let us make it 90 percent of the [illegible] are members of the union and 10 percent are not. If the majority is to be compelled against their will to become members of Murray's oligarchy, it will to all intents and purpose strengthen that man's control over all the members by about 100 percent. In other words, he will be their supreme master.

Don't these men like freedom? Don't they want to be able to quit a union if they wish and go into another union, or to work without joining any union? Why do they want a master? Murray didn't "master" anyone in Scotland where he came from. The Scots are too smart to let themselves in for that sort of servitude. Maybe he figured we were dumb. Maybe he was right.

President Truman's outspoken opposition to the Taft-Hartley law reportedly cost him a great number of labor votes in 1948. Those members of unions who had read the law were quick to see that it returned to them much of the freedom of which the Wagner act had deprived them. But the Fair Deal didn't seem to "catch the drift," and now doesn't seem to realize that there are millions of working men who are capable of understanding that enforcement of the union shop provision means tighter bands upon their wrists without any compensation whatsoever.

It doesn't help them win a strike; it doesn't strengthen their hands in an arbitration meeting; it doesn't give them any greater control of the Fair Deal than their masters already seem to enjoy.

But it does do away with just that much potential oposition to the arbitrary—and oft misused—power over their lives which the arrogant labor leaders now exercise.

The Taft-Hartley law was adopted when these leaders became alarmingly presumptuous. But they don't seem to have grasped the import of the hint.

LOCAL STUDY OF CONTROLS FIGHT URGED

Lemon Grove citizens today were urged by Southern California Civic leader Lane D. Webber to study the effect upon local liberties and economy of ending Federal Government controls on wages, prices and materials.

"Learn what this would mean in your own community life," said Webber, in reviewing proposals made by National Association of Manufacturers President William J. Grede recently in appearance before the Congressional House Banking Committee.

"Consult with your own local organizations, such as your Chamber of Commerce. Get the best and most accurate information you can," continued Webber, vice-president of Southern California Edison Company.

"See the industry and consumer reports on production relstionships to supply and demand which indicate how most goods and services are in plentiful supply . . . or, in most instances, certainly not in critical shortage."

"Facts indicate that from now on controls are unnecessary, and their effect will only harm our economy and mobilization effort. They impede production, impair incentives and increase costs both for industry and government, and they require tons of useless red tape. They lead to demands for ever more controls to attempt to shore up the inevitable failures of exising controls.

THE WORLD AT A GLANCE

By Edward Clayton

IN THE MIDDLE

The poor paying public got itself caught in the squeeze again last week in one of those labor jurisdictional disputes. Hundreds of passengers aboard the steamship Lurline in San Francisco bound for Hawaii were left stranded when the sailing finally had to be cancelled. Both of the unions claimed jurisdiction over a single steward and both proffered to make the innocent bystanders suffer rather than reach an agreement on the issue. Their action, or inaction, also forced the costly rehandling of a huge cargo. All this prompts the question as to just when some of these union bosses are ever going to grow up to their responsibilities. When are they going to realize that the more they abuse the public, the less sympathy and support they are going to get when they ask for it? Unions can be right as well as wrong in their frequent disagreements with the management, but it would seem that adding the insult of a senseless jurisdictional dispute to the current rash of strikes is going pretty far.

WHAT'S OFFENSIVE

Not so long ago resolutions have been introduced in Congress calling for investigations of radio and television programs, books, magazines and comic books. The purpose of the investigations would be to eliminate "immoral, obscene or otherwise offensive matter" along with the publications and programs that place "improper emphasis on crime, violence and corruption." The purpose is desirable, but it won't be easy to achieve. In certain extreme cases there would be little argument as to the unfitness of matter for publication which does not measure up to their own excessively rigid standards. Others would consider anything but out-and-out vulgarity as acceptable. The real censorship must come from the public itself. It is the public alone which can effectively put an end to the "immoral, obscene or otherwise offensive matter," whether in printed form or on the airways. Maybe the investigations will at least help to arouse the public to this fact — and to the need for action.

JUST REPUDIATION

General Mark Clark lost no time in repudiating the agreement under which the former prison commandant Brigadier General Dodd was released by the Red POWs who had seized him. And Clark was absolutely right in taking such action.

The kidnaping of Dodd was obviously for propaganda purposes, not to gain more humain treatment. It is unfortunate that Dodd's successor (who held the post but a few days) thought it necessary to play right into the propaganda trap in order to win the general's release. The agreement should no more be observed than that with any band of thugs or kidnapers.

The whole affair, however, calls for a reappraisal of our method of handling prisoners of war, especially the recalcitrants bent on stirring up trouble. We have been too soft, too friendly with them. From now on we should—and under General Clark we undoubtedly will—use a firm hand. Steps should be taken also to cut off the two-way radio connection the Koje Island prisoners are reported to have with their homeland. Through such a connection they can be constantly coached in the pattern desired by the Communist leaders for creating maximum embarrassment to the United Nations.

We're at war and we'd better act accordingly.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Millie Easton, Edmond, Okla.: I remember, when we noticed any young man calling on his best young lady friend as often as once a week, the neighbors would whisper behind their fans and say, "They surely will be marrying very soon."

From Donald Riesman, Atlanta, Ga.: I remember when mother did the family washing in a wooden tub with a zinc washboard.

From Mrs. T. S. McSwain, Wetumpka, Ala.: I remember taking some eggs to the store for my mother. I got the things she went for with the eggs and had a dozen left over—which were worth 15 cents. With them I traded for three yards of cloth for a dress for me.

From the Old Cuss, Chicago: I remember when politicians restricted their kissing to babies of the cradle age. But now, there's no limit to whom and what a politican will kiss for a vote or two. Just the other day, I saw a picture of Bernard Baruch getting his face patted by a sweet young thing, who'd been out of the cradle for a date or two, I'll bet. He's taking a tip from Alben Barkley. I'm getting up in years, so pretty soon, I can act like Baruch and Barkley without getting my face slapped. Then I won't be remembering much, old timers!

From Mrs. Stella Casady, Harve, Mont.: I remember when I started to school in western Nebraska in 1884 in a sod school house with a dirt floor. We had charm string of buttons.

TESTS PROVE CELERY CHECKING CONTROLABLE

A celery disease indentified as brown checking or cracksten, which has caused losses as high as 90 per cent to some farmers in celery growing areas of California, has been diagnosed by the University of California scientists as plant deficiency of a trace mineral, boron.

Tests have demonstrated that the disease can be arrested by applying sprays containing boron to the celery foliage.

Brown checking or cracksten starts with a slight discoloration of the inner groove of the stalk. Later the discolored strip turns corky and cracks. It is purely superficial, leaving the celery stalk fully edible, but unmarketable.

After determination that brown checking was not caused by a fungus or virus, the University's scientists began a series of spray experiments in the Chula Vista area.

These tests proved that boron deficiency was the cause of the checking and discoloration.

A committee of doctors has been appointed by Dr. Darwin E. Bennett to assist members of the board of directors, Grossmont Hospital District, in formulating plans for the Mary A. Jackson bond proceeds, for new hospital, according to B. T. Bennett, M.D.

In a letter to Jackson, Dr. Bennett said, "It is gratifying to the doctors of this district to know that the plans of the hospital are going forward. Dr. Bennett further stated, "Specialists in the fields not represented on the committee have been contacted and have expressed their willingness to advise on special problems in connection with selection of equipment as you need them." These doctors include Paul Simon, Samuel Peck and L. W. Moffitt.

It is expected that a selection of a site for the hospital will be made in the near future, Jackson said.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Harry Truman's announcement that he is not a candidate for re-election prompted many comments in Washington. From some came the wail "This is the end of everything". From others, came the gleeful shout, "Now the country can be saved".

Logically, neither is right.

The important fact about the President's announcement will only be as important as the people make it.

C. W. Harder

The important fact is that for the first time in twenty years, it will be possible to have a really free election, because both parties now have an opportunity to define objectives, and select candidates with no consideration for previous committments.

Just as the democratic party is not now bound to defend the actions of an administration, neither are republicans confined to a campaign on real, or imagined evils of the incumbents.

With hands free, each side can assay what the people want, and present positive platforms and candidates.

History may show Truman a great man; or the contrary. At the present, it makes little difference, because the White House occupant is not supposed to be omnipotent.

Control of government is supposed to be vested in the people through Congress.

History also reveals another important fact, long neglected.

Independent enterprise, which in turn nurtures small business that may with proper management grow into larger business, was to be the U. S. cornerstone.

And that is the basic difference between America and the rest of the world that has been forgotten. In the past few years, the threat of fascism, or the threat of communism, has been pumped up unduly into a bogey man for public attention by bureaucrats so that everyone forgot the threat to the American system.

The plight of the citizen of Lower Slobbovia who cannot vote a secret ballot is sad. But far sadder is the plight of the free American citizen who cannot start his own business due to the pressure of monopoly on one side, and almost confiscatory taxes on the other side.

And in the unsuccessful attempts to get a secret ballot for the Lower Slobbovian, many disastrous things have happened to America.

For one thing, federal, state and local taxes now take 25% of the entire national income.

Leadership in protecting U. S. free enterprise has not been a strong point by either party.

For example, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, doing an outstanding job as head of the Senate Small Business Committee, is a democrat. His able predecessor was the late Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, a republican.

The big issue today is not whether the donkey or elephant parades on Constitution Avenue.

An elephant or a donkey will both eat unguarded hay until it is entirely gone.

The big decision is what will either party make to strip the executive branch of government of the power to set up myriade of bureaus.

HOME ADVISORS GIVES FREEZER FAILURE ADVICE

Electrical power failure of only few hours may not affect the food in a home freezer, but a prolonged power shortage will, Rome Advisor Jolhane D. Wilson, of the University of California, suggests that homemakers be prepared for such electrical failures.

If the freezer stops running, the power supply may be off, or the freezer may be out of order. If the failure is only temporary and the freezer will be running again shortly, the food will keep if the freezer is not opened. In a closed freezer which is fully loaded, food will usually stay frozen for two days. A cabinet with less than half a load will not keep more than a day. The larger the box and the more it holds, the longer the contents will stay frozen.

The home advisor suggests locating the nearest freezer-locker plant and making arrangements for future emergencies if possible. Then in cases where the freezer will be out of commission for several days, the food can be moved to the locker.

If locker space is not available, try to get dry ice from a local dairy or cold storage warehouse. Fifty pounds of dry ice will keep the temperature down to 15 degrees Fahrenheit for about two days.

If none of those solutions is practical, the food can be saved by canning it immediately.

Poultry People To Meet At Ontario Soon

A big question in the minds of Lemon Grove's poultrymen to-day is what to do about respiratory diseases. The University of California College of Agriculture in an attempt to answer this and other questions is holding its first in a series of Poultry Institutes at Chaffey College in Ontario next June 17 and 18.

While an immediate answer to such problems as repiratory diseases will not be forthcoming at the June meeting, George F. Stewart, Chairman of the U. C. Poultry Husbandry division, believes that bringing the industry and University staff members together will provide "intelligent" data for research.

County Building Figures Show Local Building Trend

Lemon Grove led all communities in building in April, according to figures recently released by San Diego County Building Department.

The report shows that 207 building permits for one family dwellings were issued in April. The value was established at $1,485,400.00.

Two communities were tied for second place with 27 permits each. They were Encinitas and South Bay. Each of these showed less than $200,000.00 valuation.

In Lemon Grove permits were issued for 6 multiple dwellings, 1 business building and 59 alterations. The total for all types of permits in the community was $1,653,841.00.

The nearest competitor in dollar value was Solana Beach where $400,000.00 worth of construction is under way. Two business buildings valued at $363,350.00 figured in this total, however.

TONI CALLIAN FETED

One of the loveliest candidates for Fiesta Queen of the coming Lemon Grove Rodeo - Fiesta, Toni Callian, was honored by a party complete with a fifteen inch cake at Pal's Cafe Wednesday.

Toni's sponsor, Ted Fetters, owner and operator of the cafe said that the evening's success added greatly to her chances of wearing the queen's crown in the big parade on Rodeo Day. One of the most generous and agressive sponsors in the contest, Ted literally "put his money on one of the prettiest noses in the race." when he contributed 20 per cent of the evening's receipts to her fund.

Both Toni and Ted unruffled by the fact that they were not properly mentioned in last week's press release of candidates and sponsors, apparently were too busy piling up votes to notice the omission.

New Reservoir Nears Completion

Construction is rapidly nearing completion on the Lemon Grove, La Mesa and Spring Valley Irrigation District's new 830,000 gallon Fletcher Hills Reservoir on Aldwych Road.

This storage facility will supplement the existing Thorn Reservoir of about one fourth the capacity and will enable the District to provide service to the rapidly growing areas of Fletcher Hills, Severin Manor and Lake Murray Manor in La Mesa, and eventually to the Grossmont Terrace Subdivision of the City of El Cajon.

This concrete tank 90 feet in diameter and 32 feet high, is of advanced prestressed design, being the first such structure to be erected in San Diego County. It is attracting considerable interest among local engineers and architects.

M. J. Shelton, General Manager and Chief Engineer of the District said that this type of design, requiring one-half normal volume of concrete and one eighth the weight of steel effect considerable saving in cost and critical defense materials.

Unique features of the reservoir are thin (six inch) unreinforced concrete walls, 143 pairs of prestress units of high strength steel cast wire in the wall and later stressed to 125,000 pounds per square inch and finally a fluid coating.

The roof will be built up gravel surfaced. It of and tank allows for the eventual addition of twelve feet to the height, increasing the capacity to one and a half million gallons.

The reservoir will be graded to blend with vegetation and extensive landscaping of the premises is planned.

Visitors are welcome at the site of the work car 367 Aldwych Road, Fletcher Hills.

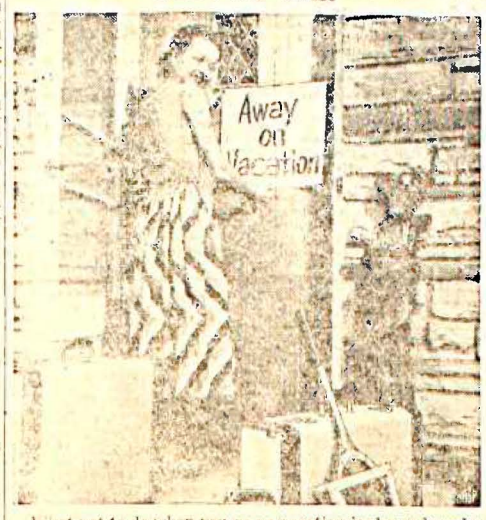
Don't Do This!



What not to do when you go on vacation is shown here by Merrill Blue Krantz: Don't post signs that reveal the house is empty. It's an invitation to burglars. A new "Check-list for Vacationers" warns that many vacationers leave such signs behind, in notices to the milkman, postman or newsboy. Instead, tell the milkman in advance to stop deliveries, ask the post office to hold your mail, and have the newspaper sent to your vacation address.

Other Do's and Don'ts promised on the check-list include:

DO lock doors and windows—but DON'T pull down window shades for that also signals an empty house and invites trouble.

DON'T forget flashlight, first aid kit, camera and film, bottle opener, can opener, cleansing tissues, sun glasses, aspirin, and sun lotion.

DO carry "Scotch" cellophane tape in the glove compartment for such "little" jobs as wrapping sandwiches, repairing road maps, mending torn pages in children's books, and removing lint and dust from cloth coats. (Wrap tape around your hand, sticky side out, and pat your clothing to pick up lint and dust.)

DO turn off water and the gas hot water heater to avoid leaks that may develop—and DO pull plugs out of electric outlets to avoid short-circuits that could cause fire.

DO seal perfume and lotion bottles and insect-repellent bottles with cellophane tape to prevent spilling inside your luggage, and seal packages and cartons with tape to keep dust out.

DO make reservations in advance unless planning your trip "gypsy style." Otherwise, start looking for lodging about 4 or 5 p.m.

DO keep a running picture-story of your vacation with postcards or snapshots. Link them together with tape, to keep them in the right order, easy to show.

LIONS vs KIWANIS GAME DATE SET

The long heralded baseball game between the slugging Kiwanians and the larruping Lions has finally reached the date setting stage.

The mighty athletes will take the field August 10th at 4:00 p. m. on the Lemon Grove School Grounds. A hard fought, exciting game is possible, provided the vitamin pills hold out. Training up to now has consisted of the captains threatening one another by telephone. Grant Hadley and Dr. White grimaced at each other on Broadway but no injury was sustained by either.

A move is on to replace Tony Sonka as umpire because neither side has been able to prejudice him since Sonka is honorary member of both service clubs.

A taco and bean supper will be in conjunction with the game, the entire proceeds of the affair going into a fund to purchase uniforms for the L.G Elementary School band.

BAKE, RUMMAGE SALES TO BE HELD

ACROSS the DESK

Thousands of readers of weekly newspapers have wondered from time to time why their local publication's editorial page sometimes becames a vapid page of words. Richard A. Swank, editor of the Duncannon Record, Duncannon, Pa., gives his explanation in an editorial entitled, 'You Gotta Starve a Little.' Writes Editor Swank:

"Several self-appointed taskmasters have called our attention to an increasing lack of editorials from the publisher of this paper. They have assumed, and they are partly right, that he has become an idler, a ne'er-do-well, a slacker, and a postponer. Several great events have stirred the community, the state of the nation, with no outburst from him. Has he gone to sleep?

"For the past several weeks more and more of the editorial chores have been delegated to younger and more spirited members of the staff. The grist from their mill has been exceedingly fine ground. The publisher has no complaint. But readers are never content unless they can be assured the machine is plunging along with all cylinders moving—even the boss should be working.

"It has come to the place where even the hired help is wondering why the typewriter doesn't clack in in a more laxativious manner. So an explanation.

"To write editorials you gotta starve a little. We don't mean you must wither away from lack of food, nor dry up from thirst. But rather that you can never be content with everything that is fed you by the great public organizations that assume the responsibility of telling you how each and every part of your daily life should and must be lived. In other words, any person who crosses you, or who tells you what you must do—with him you must be mad, cussing mad.

"Good editorials, at least the kind we'd like to write, must gush forth from wells buried deep and only tapped when irritated by the general and collective cussedness of the rest of the human race. Until you can be touched just there, and bitterly hard, you might as well relax and take things as they come and enjoy the passing of the season and the quiet nights and the vapid vapors that arise from light novels, lighter movies and radio-television that promises to become a wisp of nothing.

"That's why we haven't been writing stirring messages of contempt, sentences of destruction and paragraphs of poop. We're waiting until we starve a little, just a little more."

Our Mistakes

From the pen of an unidentified western country editor: "If you find any mistakes in this paper consider them put there for your benefit. We know that some people's only fun comes from looking for them, and always try to include a few to make them happy."

HOW PARENTS MAY SURVIVE KIDDIES VACATION

Before long children all over the country will be hurrying home from their last day of school this season, many of them clutching the welcome notification of promotion to the next grade.

Much as they love their children, many mothers usually dread vacation season. In some families, the joys of summer vacation are interrupted by accidents and mishaps which seem to occur far less during school season.

High on the list of mother's fears are possible traffic accidents. Children old enough to take care of themselves should be taught to play in areas provided for the purpose and to observe traffic signals when crossing the street.

Mothers mystified by frequent "sick stomachs" or rebellion at meal time during summer months, should get at the root of the trouble by discouraging a youngster's tendency to nibble throughout the day, now that the pantry and ice box are within easy access at all hours.

Salvation Army Summer Camps to House 3,000

Summer vacation plans for 3000 needy southern California youngsters at two Salvation Army summer camps were announced this week.

Upwards of 1000 needy children and their mothers will be entertained at the Army's Redondo Beach summer facility and 2000 boys and girls are expected to spend a week at the Mt. Crags camp in the Malibu mountains.

Opening June 27 with a 10 day music institute at Mt. Crags camping periods will start July 8th, 14th and 21st for Salvation Army youth groups, and open registration periods will start July 29th, August 5th, 12th and 19th.

Applications from boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 16 are now being taken.

STATE OLIVE PACK BREAKS ALL RECORDS

The state's 1951- 52 pack of canned ripe olives was the largest in the state's 50-year olive canning history, the California Olive Association reports.

The Association estimated that 2,348,000 cases of canned olives wewre produced in the recent season, compared with the previous record of 1,906,000 cases set in 1946-47.

Although the pack was the biggest in history, the crop of 66-800 tons was only the second largest, falling short of the 68-800 tons harvested in 1940-41.

"The reason for the difference lies in the growing popularity of canned ripe olives," explains farm economists. "In the 1940-41 season less than one-fourth of the crop went to canners. Now, with per capita consumption of canned ripe olives in the U. S. at an alltime high of eight ounces, 50 per cent of the crop, or about 32,500 tons, is canned."

The remainder of the harvest is sold for such uses as olive oil, fresh consumption and pickeling.

HEIGHT LOST IN BOMBING

The 28 year old war navy fire controlman was literally bombed out of four inches of growth will ack attacks and easy for the first time since 1943 when he leads the Pacific Bible College senior class in commencement exercises this year at Azusa.

He is Jesse Deinen, Pacific Bible College senior class president, who graduates as pastor of the Azusa First Friends church and who will receive his bachelor of arts degree, standing erect, altho four inches short of the 5' 11½" he stood when he joined the United States navy during the second world war.

Deinen's ship was attacked by two Japanese suicide planes in the south Pacific in 1943. One of the planes struck a few feet away from his fire control station. Five days later, Jesse Deinen learned of his miraculous rescue from the sea. Five years later and four inches shorter, Deinen entered PBC as a freshman — in a wheel chair from which physicians said he would never emerge.

His resolute courage, plus some expert help from veterans administration doctors and divine inspiration helped the young student to trade his wheel chair for a pair of crutches. A couple of years ago he changed from crutches to two canes, then one cane. A short time ago he threw away the cane, pulled on a pair of custom built shoes which contain special cork insoles one and one half inches thick, and once more stood on his feet.

GOPHERS ARE GUINEA PIGS FOR COLLEGE TRAPPERS

Building a better gopher trap may not result in the world beating a path to the inventor's four, but it does make the study of gophers much easier.

Live gopher traps developed by the University of California Zoology division are aiding the study of habits of the pocket gopher.

A box like trap is placed in an active gopher runway. An overhead trigger mechanism indicates without disturbance to the buried trap whether a catch has been made. Most gophers shun metal floored traps so the bottoms of the traps are made of hardware cloth.

Since May of 1949, 252 individual gophers had been trapped a total of 1425 times in a four acre test plot. Before being released, the trapped gopher is classified according to weight sex, location and other pertinent data. He is also marked so that he may be identified when retrapped.

CREED FOR HAPPIER LIVING SET TO PROSE

The following material was submitted by a Lemon Grove business man who offers it as a guide through troubled and trying times:

PROMISE YOURSELF

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your piece of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to everyone you meet.

To make all your friends feel there is something in them.

To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others, as you are about your own.

To forget all the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself, that you have no time to criticize others.

To be so large to worry, too noble for anger, and too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

Nursing Career Ambition Of Miss Lemon Grove

Pretty Joanne Alexander, who will represent Lemon Grove in the Fairest of the Fair queen finals at Russ Auditorium, Saturday, will trade colorful and gay wearing apparel for the crisp, white uniform of the nursing profesion this Fall.

This is the noble profession chosen by "Miss Lemon Grove" and she'll enter DePaul Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis, Missouri in September.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alexander, Joanne was selected to represent this community during County Fair Pre-vues held in La Mesa last month.

She has outstanding queen qualifications, including charm, poise, personality and beauty. She is 17, her eyes are green, her hair brown and she stands 5 feet 3 and a half inches tall. Her favorite subject has been social problems and for a hobby she has chosen writing. Although a native of Spokane, Washington, she thinks "California, and particularly Lemon Grove is a wonderful place to live."

What does she want most? All the support she can muster for the Fair. And of the Fair finals. The stakes will be high and the competition exceedingly keen.

Fairest of the Fair will reign over the San Diego County Fair at Del Mar, opening Friday June 27 and running through July 6. She will receive many outstanding awards including a 10 day stay with her mother at picturesque Hotel Del Mar.

Warns Politicians

DR. LOUIS H. BAUER of Hempstead, New York, new President of the American Medical Association, who this week urged both major political parties to write platforms which "disavow all threats to our Constitutional independence and liberty."

CHICAGO—Warning both the Republican and Democratic Parties that the eyes of the world will be upon them during their July conventions in Chicago, the new President of the American Medical Association Tuesday night challenged them to nominate fearless men of integrity who will be guided by the highest concepts of national welfare and world freedom.

Dr. Louis H. Bauer of Hempstead, New York, in his inaugural address delivered here at the 101st Annual Session of the AMA, declared that "a candidate who emerges from a smoke-filled room will be the candidate of defeat."

The People Watch

The two major political parties and their leaders have the task of giving the American people a Government that serves rather than a Government that dominates, Dr. Bauer said. Then, addressing his remarks to the July convention delegates, he added:

"You will not be alone in the convention hall. In these days of nationwide radio and television you will have millions of Americans watching you, testing your sincerity, weighing your judgment, analyzing your motives."

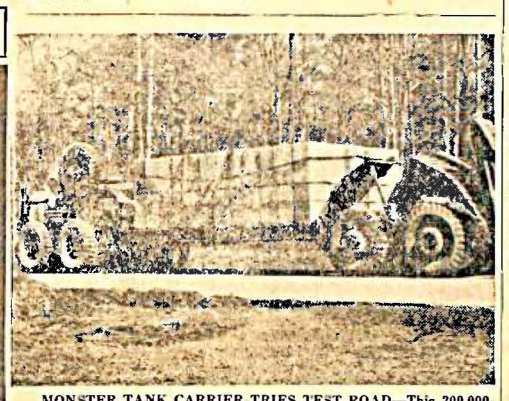
Encouragement for the Future Farmers

CHICAGO, ILL.—Good progress is being made to increase the operating budget of the Future Farmers of America, largest farm boy organization in the world. Here, Roger M. Kyes (right), Chairman of the Sponsoring Committee of the FFA Foundation and vice president of General Motors, presents checks totaling $25,350 to Dr. W. T. Spanton, national FFA advisor, as a starter for the 1953 FFA budget. Companies in business and industry donate the money, which will go into cash awards for the farm boys in various FFA contests throughout the U. S., Hawaii and Puerto Rico.



MONSTER TANK CARRIER TRIES TEST ROAD—This 200,000-pound Army tank retriever was one of the heavy vehicles used on the Maryland Test Road by highway engineers in an experiment which proved that pavement built on gravel will carry weights far greater than the heaviest commercial trucks permitted anywhere.

Motorists today drive smoothly at 50 mph over the site of the road test, despite earlier unofficial reports the road was "ruined" by the specially heavy test trucks which were shuttled back and forth 24 hours a day for six months.

The Highway Research Board's official findings, just released in Washington, D. C., describe how the engineers withheld normal road maintenance so that washouts of clay beneath the pavement would permit cracking they could measure against various weights.

The report shows that the 28 concrete slabs on good soil didn't crack, and the tank retriever was run over this part of the highway to confirm that a properly-built road can support heavy loads.

The inadequate Choptank clay under 85 percent of the test road, it was said, exists nowhere except in a few parts of Maryland and Delaware, but the engineers' findings indicate that pavements built anywhere on poor soils, without adding gravel, require faithful maintenance if rain and weathering are not to weaken them so they cannot bear even ordinary traffic.

The Maryland Test Road was reopened to public use after the state highway department spent $9,918 on it, mostly to fix shoulders and drainage found faulty before the test.

Highway designers and builders are hopeful that the Maryland test and others in prospect will point the way to better highway construction and care. They have learned that a good foundation is a good start, for any road.

Defeating the Inferiority Complex

CALVIN OSBORN, San Diego, Calif., entered Washington Missionary college in Washington, D.C., one of the most backward, bashful students who ever crossed the campus. He had developed one of the worst cases of inferiority complex and self-consciousness anyone could possible have.

It began when he was just a lad. He was next to the youngest in a family of six children. His mental attitude caused him to develop the habit of stuttering, and his older brothers mocked and made fun of him. Finally he got to the point where he refused to talk before a group.

Carnegie

All through high school he lived in that atmosphere of fear and worry. Why couldn't he recite like others? Why couldn't he answer questions in classes without embarrassment? In his Spanish class he would be asked: "Senor Osborn, Que le'ccion tenemos para hoy? Que pa'gina?" (Mr. Osborn what lesson to do have we for today? What page?) To that question and all other questions, he would answer "No comprendo" (I don't comprehend). He was afraid of his own voice. Even in college he would hide behind the one in front for fear he would be asked a question.

And he wanted to enter the ministry! He knew what that meant! Public speaking and plenty of it. There was only one thing to do, so he made up his mind that every time he had an opportunity to speak in public he would. The director of the woodworking shop at Washington Missionary college encouraged him. One morning he said, "What one man has done another can do." Then Calvin Osborn said to himself, "Cal, if you have to let some of your studies go in order to give a talk, do it. Don't worry about mistakes — everyone makes them." Opportunities came and he accepted them. In the woods, in his room, walking down the street he practiced talking, and he overcame his fear by doing what he feared most. Today as pastor of a large church he no longer stutters; his worries and fears are gone. It is as easy for him to talk as it is to eat.

ways to be a friendly telephone neighbor

If yours is a party-line, your telephone neighbors will consider you a real friend if you'll keep these simple points in mind. Try not to tie up the line with lengthy conversations. That way you won't miss important incoming calls. Ask the youngsters to be considerate, too. When they remember that others may be waiting to use the line they're being good party-line neighbors. Always be sure you hang up properly after calling. These simple suggestions mean still better service . . . because they give every one a better chance to receive and make calls.

emergency calls may arise while you're on the line. If a telephone neighbor breaks in and explains the emergency, it's always thoughtful to hang up and complete your call later.

HOMEMAKERS USE SEWING MACHINE TO BATTLE HIGH COST OF LIVING

After food and housing costs bite into the family budget, many a homemaker finds that there is not enough money left over to take care of another very essential part of family life—that of providing sufficient clothing for everyone.

But some thirty million women in this country have found that one answer to this problem lies in the family sewing machine. For example — the average creative home seamstress turns out for herself alone an average of 27 garments annually for a third of the cost of comparable garments purchased ready-made. In addition she can farther stretch the money allocated for household spending by sewing for her children and making her home furnishing items such as slipcovers, curtains and linens.

That today's homemaker is using her sewing machine to offset high living costs was proved recently in a survey conducted among 2,672 home seamstresses. Married women ran up a total score of 7.8 hours each per week spent stitching, practically a full business day. In addition to making new clothing and household furnishings, these women also explained that their sewing machine was necessary for mending of these items as well as make-over projects. In this way they provide themselves, their families and their homes with many necessary items that they otherwise could not afford.

Many women in this group further explained that in addition to enlisting the aid of their sewing machines for family sewing they also turned out articles for church and hospital auxiliaries, the Red Cross and other charity organizations.
